" By: [Krysta St. Sowell] Shared Hosting Solutions Shared Web Hosting is a place where multiple websites share resources like database, memory, bandwidth, and hard disk space. Instead of having to pay for expensive computer hardware like you have to pay for a dedicated server, you can pay for your website in a monthly subscription. With shared hosting you get a server with the space and power you need to host your website, but you only pay for the space you use. Shared web hosting is a very popular web hosting plan because you can host a website for free. It is ideal for the small business owner or for webmasters that don't have a lot of traffic or who are trying to keep their hosting costs down. The three most popular plans of shared hosting include

Nagaina With Key (Updated 2022)

Nagaina is a simple, easy to use application designed to enable users to take notes and classify them for a fast access. Nagaina allows you to organize your notes in bookmarks. You can read, sort, delete or copy your notes. You can synchronize your notes to read and write them from any computer connected to the Internet. After you have added notes to your databases the application will display them in a tree structure, allowing you to browse them. You can navigate your tree structure by pressing the UP and DOWN keys or by pressing F2. If the item you are interested in is already open, you can reorder it by pressing the UP or DOWN keys, or you can open it by pressing F2. Additional information you may want to know about your notes: - The title of the notes (used as a bookmark) - The date of creation of the notes (and a timestamp) - The search criteria used by the notes (if any) - Notes added from other applications like Word or OpenOffice will be displayed in the tree even if they don't have a corresponding note. You can create notes in a single language (English) or in multiple languages, by selecting the language of the note. Basic usage: - Create a new bookmark (this is the window displayed at step 4) - Enter the title of the note - Enter the search criteria used to retrieve the notes from the database (used to display the notes in a tree) - Select the language (and the input method) for the note - Add the notes from other applications to your database - Enter a timestamp for the note and assign it to a folder (NOTE: for folders, the date field is optional) - Open the notes you wish to read or edit in a new window or in the main screen - Either press F2 to open a note or highlight the note and press the left or right arrow keys - Press F2 to sort the notes by creation date (or the tag you added to the note) - Press the UP or DOWN keys to reorder the items - Press F2 to open a note in a new window or in the main screen - Press F2 to set the viewer language Features: - There are multiple templates for bookmark (the window displayed at step 4): - single note - tag (tags are stored in the database along the
